Conventionally, I've always thought that passive income can only be generated when you have money and if you don't have (or have little), passive income is impossible. That's no longer true.
The author has provided detailed plans on how passive income is possible when you’ve got little or no money. The book goes on to show you exactly how a person earning $3000 a month can achieve consistent and stable streams of passive income sometimes even without putting his own money down. This is seriously powerful knowledge. I’ve started to put some of the concepts into practice and I’m looking to set up my 1st stream of steady passive income. Great Book!

It’s an easy read and has opened my eyes wide open! I didn’t realize the potential of arbitrage.
